Dear Mr. Meadors:

My office received the attached Freedom of Information Act request from your office for documents pertaining to the June 8, 1967 attack on the USS Liberty. The White House is not in possession of those records. At the end of each Presidential Administration all records generated during that administration are forwarded to that President's Presidential library. We have determined that responsive documents may be at the Lyndon B. Johnson Presidential Library and have forwarded the request for their appropriate action. For your future reference, the contact information for the Lyndon B. Johnson Presidential Library is as follows:
